

Question 10

Answer: False

In Canada, when parents separate or divorce and it is necessary for a court to determine the appropriate parenting arrangements for a child, the decision is made on the basis of what is in the best interests of the child.